Course Information If you are a high school reluctant writer, this might be your class! Student, parent, teacher will meet to discuss whether or not this approach is a good fit and will meet student need.

The student will use the steps in the writing process to organize and develop ideas in essay writing, discussion question responses, and general academic writing styles.

THE FOCUS OF THE CLASS WILL BE DECIDED BY THE DESIRE AND NEED OF THE STUDENTS with teaching methods being one-on-one or two-on-one. I call it "elbow teaching". A student will actually write during the class and, of course, have writing to complete at home.

Class conversations related to writing styles, staying focused, relaxing as opposed to "overkill" and enjoying the journey of developing ideas with credible support are key elements with which we begin. Filling in "gaps" is individualized. The life skill of finishing work well and on time is pursued.

Student writing may come from other classes in which a student is enrolled. If they wish, students may make selections from a suggested reading list as the year progresses. The instructor will manage discussion/writing tasks.

Student easy access to computer for email, typing, info searching, reading, and zoom is necessary.
